

IPPF

IPPF – International Planned Parenthood Federation – is a dynamic and committed global charitable organisation. Our brief was to create an environment that reflects and reinforces the important work they do, while stimulating communication between the departments. Our proposal was based on an open-plan approach, supported by study booths to provide quiet working space and meeting rooms in various sizes.

The café and breakout area is the hub of this busy office; a ‘magnet’ that encourages staff and visitors to come together and exchange ideas. Throughout the scheme, we reinforced IPPF’s mission with extensive graphics, a carefully selected blend of images reflecting the humanity of those they help. This project is an excellent example of brand reinforcement – on a budget. Working in close partnership with IPPF’s Project Managers, Lambert Smith Hampton, we were able to deliver this lively and stimulating new working environment on time and within budget.
